Letters play, define the roles,
Describe the landscapes, build the scene.
Blank spaces design the chances
For creating images.

Passages take us by the hand
To shining paths, essential learnings
Shaped on delicate paper
That must be handled with care.

Small thoughts flow inside my brain.
The words that you never want to say are eating
The leaves we wrote.

A reward is prepared for us,
So place your bet then I'll place mine.
If we want to survive together,
We will need to keep ourselves fit.

Walking, we need each other's help
Even when we are lost in time.
Printed dialogues,
Voices that must be one person twice.
