Twenty pills should do the trick
Of keeping myself from getting sick and tired
Of all the pain, who's to blame

In between the pages of a story that I wrote
Lies within the middle a suicide note
You're love has never mattered and I'm falling on my face
Get rid of all the traces as my body leaves this place

She goes to sleep hoping it's a dream
But wakes up and it's the same thing
That she goes through everyday
Wiping her tears away

In between the pages of a story that I wrote
Lies within the middle a suicide note
You're love has never mattered and I'm falling on my
face
Get rid of all the traces as my body leaves this place

Do you hear Me
I love you
Don't give up my child
You're worth so much more to Me
