I have been born with a thousand sins already on my back

I have to keep my life knowing that I'll never wash them away

And I will die like a dog, with the tail on my legs

And I will be in the agony of death like a juicy liver ready to be eaten

Worms eat my rotten corpse, they feel so deep

My hand has a chip, I fall asleep

Let me be a prey of you, I am so weak

You're digging my grave, you'll think you win

But now I'm the phoenix and I'm rising from my dust

I believe only in myself and I predict you're dying fast

Now it's time for me to live eternal but I'm not a god

No time for bittersweet ends

Only for a flawless victory

I have to rest close to filth and cruel no senses worms

I have to keep my death knowing that no one will remember of me

And I'll learn about the lie that we call afterlife

And I'll return to the depths of complete annihilation
