Charging my energies, my body and mind collide
Creating a massive storm within myself
That feeds on despair of the world's demise
The very soil beneath my feet collapse
In the presence of my design
As I emit chastising aura
I am no longer mortal, I am a god

This is the dawn of a new age
I convey obliteration for conspiratorial swine
No pity for ones whom will lie in the waves of the wake
I reconcile with the wrath and destruction
To purify every life that I take

Reflect on all the hate and all the pain
Contamination will engulf at a despicable rate
Sever all ties with the human race

I shall cast darkness upon this land

I rise above to the highest cloud to bask in true glory
I cannot stand and watch the insects consume
I destroy defiled life
... And darkness was cast
