Yeah here we go
I know I said this once before
It takes one bullet to hit the floor
And make wrong things right
I remember yesterday
Falling through the broken glass
I tried and tried and tried again, for what
Remember how we used to laugh
When tempers fall from the sky
And sound poetic but I don't care
We'll dance the night away
To keep our heart giving out
For loss of words, We'll paint a perfect picture

My days are numbered
So take a rain check

So make the way, I'm coming through
One thousand thank yous says you're welcome

Let's take it slow
Bridges don't burn that fast
I know I've done it before
This will be your only chance.

This tends to beat around the bush
And end in every story wrong
On this night, we'll get a sunburn before the sun turns on us
And we'll find our way back home today.

Yeah here we go
I know I said this once before
It takes one bullet to hit the floor
And make wrong things right
I remember yesterday
Falling through the broken glass
I tried and tried and tried again, for what

You broke it all in two
Which wasn't made for you.
