Save me

As we protest to stay alive, do you see what's inside?
As you head for the door,
Why did you leave me behind?

We all will face the end together
There's no one who can change this
We all will face the end together
No one will set us free, no one will set us free

Here I am and I'll be there
And I will never be a part from you

You're silence leaves me breathless, are you crying out?
Empitiness is all I feel, just remember, this is real

We all will face the end together
There's no one who can change this
We all will face the end!
No one will set us free, no one will set us free

Here I am and I'll be there
And I will never be a part from you

Clouded by your own eyes, and choking on your own lies
This is not what we planned, you better pray and run!
