"Let Me Go"

I'm feeling alone again the weight of life is coming to my dreams much more than i can bear it's starting to rain again and the pain is pushing me down on my knees and it leaves me in despair there's nowhere to go, there's nowhere to hide I'm trapped inside this dream again

there's nowhere to go, there's nowhere to hide I can't take this pain

let me go, let me wake and see the day let me go to make the pain go away let me go, let me do it my own way you will see, I will die anyway the sky is grey again the sun no longer shines, who is to blame?

I don't really want to know losing my faith again the pain is holding me down in the shade I'm weaker than before

I don't want to run, I don't want to hide I'm going to have my final breath I'm losing the fight, I'm losing it all I have to take this pain

let me go, let me do it my own way

let me go to make the pain go away
let me go, let me do it my own way
you will see, I will die anyway
