Have you seen the sunset a thousand times,
A black, sky turn blue.
The broken mend itself
The certain fall through
Are you jaded from all the drama tired of learning how To accept things as they are

Or are you in search of something more for yourself
Or are you in search of something more for yourself

Cause I have changed so much so far
But I can feel That I; m about to change some more
I have been through so much so far
But I can feel that I'm about to go through so much more

Have you seen the dead leaves fall from trees,
The wind change direction
A wound heal itself
Or had Someone Give up on you.

Are tainted from all the trauma
Tired of learning to accept thing as they Do you feel like you'll die content or die with regrets

Or are you in search of something more for yourself
Or are you in search of something more for yourself

Cause I have changed so much so far
But I can feel That I; m about to change some more
I have been through so much so far
But I can feel that I'm about to go through so much

I've got the whole world in front of me
I've got the whole world in front of me
You've got the whole world in your hands
You've got the whole world in your hands
