I'll be there shortly
Sit tight I won't be long
It's been a while since I've been home from work
I've got a confession to make I'm not the man you think
I am
Let me explain
I have been employed for the past two years by a man who pays for murders to be carried out on people who betray him
He gives me their name and address I arrive and quickly finish them off without any hesitation or human emotion
I'm a killer
But not a liar
I'm just putting it all out there
Try to realize I'm a working man
We do what we do
We kill who we kill
Life is short
You're so sweet
Please understand
Now you know you can't tell not one soul
I need you
So this is how it ends
Stay with me I'll spare your life
It never should have come to this
