"Cool Your Power"

Let me into the rage, inside your mind, the fire burning in your eyes, terrifies
But I can't look away from the light, if I do
I think I'll go blind
I just want to cool your power
Tell me about your pain, why it won't go away
Let me heal your soul where it's smashed and torn Tell me about the pain, the pain of being born
It feels like death, but it's so slow
I just want to cool your power, feel that heat inside
Let me cool your power
I can see all the lies, when I look in your eyes
All the lonely nights, and all the ugly fights
When I want you I'm weak, because I want your strength
I want to feel your heat, I want to feel your length
I just want to cool your power, feel that heat inside
You can be alone all your life, you can die alone
Push me away, but later today, you'll come back
I just want to cool your power, feel that heat inside
Let me cool your power
