Blythe

Take me along

Way past the tin cans and sand man

It's Thursday's old song

Bet you didn't know that I knew

You told the truth

The minute you walked out the door that I trotted into

Yet my love for you will never fade

Like these past couple months

And the memories and mistakes we made

Yeah my love for you will never fade

Cause you took me somewhere that I wouldn't have dared

You saved me baby

Kite

Flying alone

In a desert gas station motel pool and free local phone

Bet you didn't know that I knew

Still in my youth

That the poems of lust and of trust

Form no tangible truth

Yet love for you will never fade

Like these past couple months

And the memories and mistakes we made

Yeah my love for you will never fade

Cause you took me somewhere that I wouldn't have
dared

You saved me baby

Bet you didn't know that I knew

You were the muse

With a flame in your hand and a lariat trick for a fuse

Yet love for you will never fade

Like these past couple months

And the memories and mistakes we made

Yeah my love for you will never fade

Cause you took me somewhere
That I couldn't have dared
You saved me baby

Yeah love for you will never fade...
