"March On Atlantis"

As I look to the sea
It's just like I said it would be
The eyes of the world looked in fright
The silver dome sat on the sea

Making day out of night
And all around the world
The leaders joined as one
Their fingers poised on the key
Thinking the war had begun

They had given it all that they had
Their planes and guns were gone
Majestically calm sat the dome
The final onslaught was done
And all around the world
The people looked as one
The dome had absorbed their attack
The silos of missiles had gone
