What had been so long ago
Is only a mist in the snow
And for the clanes that once had been made
Are simply my sins that did fade
And for what we've become is only ecstasy
And a dream, a vision of pure misery

Let me be the one to tell you all
Of hell's resurrection and heaven's fall
Sleep sweet damned woman for you are Caused him to triumph and forever will abide
By his side

Moon demon, celestial star gazer
Be a comfort to me and not curse my kin
Wise of all liars, stalked from the start
And not to show thy blackened heart

Caught the flying nymph did I
Devoured her soul to my own and fled
Then when I met I embraced the earth
The mother of all tides struck with blunted force
And then I finally saw my last sunrise

Rest assured, I speak not for myself
But to defend the pride of a dying mankind
As we all see the setting and the last sunrise

The bell has sounded and signals the end
The end of all life my friend
Friend to the end
