Deep in the jungle He lost her favour
Another gambit He would have made her
He gave her perfume She use his razor
And decided to change his ways
She was a gambler He didn't blame her
She had a dimple in her favour
At the last minute He always chase her
And decided to change his ways
Life would be so much more exciting
If we could live it day by day
We could at least adjust the lighting
To illuminate the way
He took the loving that she'd been craving
She took advantage of the saving
It almost ruined her reputation
And decided to change his ways
[Yodeling]
Life would be so much more exciting
If we could live it day by day
We could at least adjust the lighting
To illuminate the way

She wasn't crazy 'bout his behaviour

She read it somewhere in the paper

He was seducing a ballerina

And decided to change his ways

[Yodeling]

Deep in the jungle He lost her favour

Another gambit He would have made her

He gave her perfume She use his razor

And decided to change

And decided to change

He decided to change his ways.
