Deals of passions come to deliver us
Even the sorrow runs to silver dust
I can recall the falls of the lonely hearts
Betraying love and walls of fear

When you cry all tears are stolen
As I whisper golds in women
When the world is so far apart
We listen for voices in our hearts then touch
If we know love will show
How I care why we love beloved

And when doves fly I think of love
As in this world I've learned to see
Can you believe the sight
For us doves clear and white in full flower

And we learn to love and beloved
Molding for one and all for none
Women who share and men with care for one love
Where the white doves can flower

And when Doves fly I think of love
As in this world I've learned to see
Can you believe the sight
For us doves clear and white in full flower

And we learn to love and beloved
Molding for one and all for none
Women who share and men with care for one love
Where the white doves

When Doves fly I think of love

As in this world I've learned to see
Can you believe the sight
For us doves clear and white in full flower
And we learn to love and beloved
Molding for one and all for none
Women who share and men with care for one love
