The spring days that you had brought to me
Their scent still lingers in that same way Leaving behind the words that couldn't be said

Gently cuddling close together in the quietness, we were looking at the jewel that belonged to only the two of us Why is my heart hurting? Am I just wishing for something that I've lost?

Without knowing how to love, I only hurt you How much meaning have I been able to build up?

By your side, by your side, will you sing a song for me?
On the musical score in the night sky
Even the light, even with these notes, I think they'll reach you
The memories are played out *

The words that couldn't be said at that time, I guess they go somewhere, and return Somewhere, if you're smiling for me - now, I'm able to think that it's good enough

The words left behind on this faraway earth Take me by the hand and lead me, breathless, to tomorrow

I close my eyes, and grasped the spade earring that you had given me
Like this, I fall into darkness Even the light, even with these notes, I think they'll
reach you
The memories are played, forever

By your side, by your side, will you sing a song for me?
On the musical score in the night sky
Even the light, even with these notes, I think they'll
reach you
The memories are played out
