

Alice Nine "Nijisai"

Visit "Nijisai" on MotoLyrics.com

With the transparent warmth that I had been gazing at, my faith in you won't change till the end of the world

Suddenly the wind blew and my chest hurt, as if to compensate for the things I was lacking, I dreamt about not waking up

Tears overflowed in my eyes, I'll add on to our page, there's nothing to be thrown away Towards the memories and wishes coloured in, I'll turn the key, I realized that the things I don't want to lose are the colours of the rainbow and everything you created

The memories fade, so I'm not averting my eyes, your figure as it is, the things that happen in the days that pass

Don't show a sad face, even if you're tired from crying, no matter where you are, because I'll be beside you, I want to be coloured in My beloved, try looking up, because the rain of light is falling, gently wiping away the traces of your tears Is the flower that we found together blooming this year as well? I'm not sure but I'll grasp your hand, inside the pocket is the world that belongs only to the two of us

Trembling, I'm going to meet you now, whatever has been left in my palm, now reach out a hand

My eyes will always continue to reflect what you taught me, without changing, because that's good enough

Radiance overflowed, I'll add on to our page, there's nothing to be thrown away Towards the memories and wishes coloured in, I'll turn
the key, I realized that the things I don't want to lose and don't want to forget are the colours of the rainbow and you

