"The Moon And The Wilderness Forest"

I can never die,
I'll always be by your side,
Since the day we sat by the tree,
And rejoiced in ecstasy.

But now you are gone,
Leave me here alone,
Sat by the tree, I cry,
For I can never die.

The moon looked up to us,
The stars were ours,
No-one could stop us,
We were immortal.

I gaze up to the moon and curse,
Let the stars burn out,
All of this I'll see,
The curse of immortality.

Lost in a wilderness forest,
Cursed to walk it's soil forever,
I reach out to the dark, and beg,
To be taken in it's arms forever.
