Half-blind, but knowing no better
Flicker in her moth-light
As she wrote in her loveless love letter
"These are the best days of our lives."

Have you seen the light shine through her eyes?
Have you seen the light shine through her eyes?
She's wants to burn your lights out
She's gonna burn your lights down

In a diary of days now blanked and lost
Within her perfect frown
On a hillside of mercy, counting the cost
As I watch my hometown burn down

Have you seen the light shine through her eyes?
Have you seen the light shine through her eyes?
She's gonna burn your lights out
She's gonna put your lights pretty low
