Well something's got to scratch the surface.
Blind can lead the blind but only for so long.
You've got to find what serves the purpose.
Before you come to find that no one else was wrong.
I can't run away from all that they say,
It's all just a game they want me to play.
I can't run away, I can't run forever.
Another truth that's hard to swallow.
Playing guessing games has always paved your way.
See I am not obliged to follow.
I'll take my chances & the choice is mine to make.
