(Oh)

I see your picture on the wall and you're so far away
You told me you would call when you got there
And everything that you said
And everything that you did I believed

You told you would never leave me alone
You told me you would never lie to me
And everything you said
And everything that you did I believed

Feeling the pain that you bring me
Seems like I can't stand you anymore
And every time I see you, you know it hurts me
And when I'm not with you and you're not in my arms
When you're so far away, I feel so cold
And I've lost everything, I should have known

You told you would never leave me alone
You told me you would never lie to me
And everything you said
And everything that you did I believed

And everything you said
And everything that you did I believed
I believed

And everything you said
And everything that you did I believed ooh
