You watched me go, You never cared that you left me alone
And every time I called you, You never picked up the phone Sometimes it makes me wonder, Who will be there for her
And then somehow I see, Her living a better life

Torn from everything, Everything I believe I'm suffering pain, It's breaking me down It's more than I can take

Why do we care, How everyone else lives
Why do we compare, Our lives to those here It's like we're never satisfied, We never get our fill More tends to be the answer, Even makes us want to steal

Why can I not go far from this place
Why can't I not leave when the problem surrounds me
Why can I not go far from this place
Why can't I not leave
