Summoning for thy shadow
A black majesty appears,
Far, where the sun hides
And the longboats came once.
Shinning northern lights,
Eclipsing the moonlight,
Shadowed face, red fiery eyes,
ÂiFrom the darkness I shall rise!

Stand with thunder might
And holding the hammer of the gods
While, flying ravens of yore
Whose croack is angels' song,
Pray for the frozen north
And see our destiny in the stones.
And the rage of Fernir wolf
Lead your ships away from home.
