"Everyone Has Died Post-Haste"

Here it is, I feel it now
I won't let go
They all have gone so far away

Shallow heart inside of me
Inside us all

It doesn't seem like something real, it's not Digging up the dirt outside, I want to see if they're still there

Anything to let me know whether I'm alive

And now every little thing is right
And it has all come to an end
And now every little face is gone
And I'm left to be alone again

In this darkened salvation
No heart beating openly
It's so quiet over here
But there hasn't been a tear
Steadily a life goes on

Parting ways with myself
It's been a good ride
It's been a good ride
