Said I love you, said I love you
Said I love you, said I love you

Face to face
I'm looking at you in a secret place
Undress the words so we say nothing fake
It's so much better when our words are naked

We don't need space
I wanna hold you tight again
For us to feel each other's hearts at the "right place"
I guess this is why god made us like this

Songs sound amazing with you
Views lose their beauty without you
It feels like I don't exist without you baby
Without you baby
Without you baby

I said I love you, said I love you, said I love you
I still can't find any other words than "I love you", let our bodies do the talking
I said I love you, said I love you, said I love you, love you

I said I love you, said I love you, said I love you
I still can't find any other words than "I love you", let
our bodies do the talking
I said I love you, said I love you, said I love you, love
you
My body's talking to you

Touch my hair
You're always telling about a friend we share
Please believe the moments I were there Myself to everyone
Reminiscing to mark the time

Missing your caress
It makes me feel high again
You try to take it to your face it's our love drug
And this is why you raise your hands like this

Every time we're going, you go off
I can see when you speak to me baby because Feels like I am so empty without you baby
Without you baby
Without you baby

I said I love you, said I love you, said I love you
I still can't find any other words than "I love you", let
our bodies do the talking
I said I love you, said I love you, said I love you, love
you

I said I love you, said I love you, said I love you
I still can't find any other words than "I love you", let
our bodies do the talking
I said I love you, said I love you, said I love you, love
you
My body's talking to you

Talking to you, talking to you...
Talking to you, talking to you...

Here we using my mind of melodies
Used to love you when find your heart worries
I wish I could rewind this song Behold my memories, over and over (and over and over...)

I still can't find any other words than "I love you", let
our bodies do the talking
My body is talking to you
