There's so many colors without the dirty windows

Shades of purple mainly, but clarity and sharpness too while

The mountains slip through Herds of elk to return to the plains.
Plainly sky shades blue endlessly
Mountains they plane towards sky, endlessly
Plains parallel sky,

And illusory appear to meet Illusory at points horize, but No point exists

Sun rise, sun set
Sun ever set and rise to reach

Sun, a chemical reacting ahead above then gone behind, and thus are days and time and our movement/spaces are defined. We finish in the dark

Mountains plane towards sky behind Plainly plains sky out ahead,
And trees disappear to us with sun,
That chemical mountain chaser.
