They say a boy can fly
When he falls in love
He wakes up in a bed still warm from someone he dreams of Smiles, looks to the window that the sun is rising in
And sees the face of Somebody's Angel
Smiling back at him

They say he's most alive
When he falls in love
He's still amazed that someone thinks that he's sent from above
Rubs his eyes and in the mirror musses up his hair
And sees the face of Somebody's Angel
Now reflected there

The morning is glorious
When the world's no longer lonely
The arms of another do not lie
Anything can happen when a boy can realize
Life can make a man but only love can make him fly

They say you'll hear him laugh
When you see him smile
He breathes a sigh and takes some time to live this dream a while
Flops back on the bed but slowly stops to look behind
Cuz he feels the wings of Somebody's Angel
Lift him toward the sky

He dreams of tomorrow
And it's happy ever after
The visions of Heaven joy can bring
"Look what I can do now Look how high I fly" he sings
Life can make a man but only love can give him wings

They say a boy can fly
When he falls in love
They say he'll wait there smiling for the one he's dreaming of
Hears a knock and races to the door to welcome in

The smiling face of Somebody's Angel
Looking back at him

He sees the face of Somebody's Angel
Smiling back at him
