There is a part of me that's always sixteen
I've found the secret of eternal youth
Some get high on life or money
But there's an escape
Drop out the race
To walk through world by one's self
You can't be protected
Your trust is in whisky, weed and Black Sabbath
It's goddamn electric

(chorus) Don't waste your time embrace it
And then you will know yourself
The change in you is goddamn electric

The weight of the world is lifted and parted
My eyes roll blind to sights that distract
Through tunnel vision and dope haired blinders
I'll cut a path and evoke my will
To walk through the world by ones self
You can't be protected
Your trust is in whisky, weed and Slayer
It's goddamn electric

(chorus) Don't fake your life inhale it
And then you'll know yourself
The change in you is goddamn electric
Don't waste my time, embrace it
And then you'll know yourself
The change that is goddamn electric will focus the minds eye

One hand on the bottle
The other a shaking fist
Rejuvenated, yet isolated, no pressure
From the outside, my sight is goddamn electric
And these eyes have seen a world
An entire goddamn electric system

(chorus)
