Lights went out then came judgement day Dragging its heels and waiting for the sunshine of the day
Something out there, weren't right

Darkness of night, snapping at our heels
Nothing was right, nothing to see Skinful of dust, rise to the sea
Greed, swallowing up all of we

Just take what you give
Judge another by the way you live
Gonna take that tired old soul
Don't you know

I'm waiting for the sunshine of the day
To dry all my tears, cause of so so much sorrow Take my wiry old soul, and pass it on through to tomorrow
To tomorrow, Take my weary old soul
Lights went out then came judgement day stomping its heels and waiting for the sunshine of the
Something out there, weren't right

The darkness of night, was snapping at our heels Nothing seems right, nothing to see
Skinful of dust, rise to the sea
Greed, swallowing up all of we

Just take what you give
Judge another by the way you live
Gonna take that tired old soul
Don't you know
Waiting for the sunshine of the day
To dry all my tears, cause of so so much sorrow Take my wiry old soul, and pass it on through to
tomorrow
pass it on through to tomorrow, Take my wiry old soul

Just take what you give, Judge another by the way you live

Gonna take that tired old soul, Don't you know I said just take what you give, Judge another by the way you live
Gonna take that tired old soul, Don't you know What you give, what you give
Just take what you give
And pass that soul, and pass that soul onto tomorrow
Take it on to tomorrow, pass it through to tomorrow
