Guess this looks a little crazy from outside
Kind of twisted and unique
Our love is like an island made for two
A language only you and I can speak

So I let you break my heart
And I shut out the voices (the voices, the voices)

And I don't care if they don't know what I see in you
I don't need them to, decide
No I don't mind if they question why I stay with you
It's just me and you, this time

All my friends say I should put this thing on ice
Are they really on my side
I keep running back for punishment it seems we've forgotten dream behind

So I let you break my heart
And I shut out the voices (the voices, the voices)

And I don't care if they don't know what I see in you
I don't need them to, decide
No I don't mind if they question why I stay with you
It's just me and you, this time

Slowly slide, but I'm holding on this time
Slowly slide, but I'm holding on this time

And I don't care if they don't know what I see in you
I don't need them to, decide
No I don't mind if they question why I stay with you
It's just me and you, this time

And I don't care if they don't know what I see in you
I don't need them to, decide
No I don't mind if they question why I stay with you
It's just me and you, this time
