It's not hard to see what's wrong with me... people just don't understand how every day life is for me. listen as I tell you a secret on my life. I wake up usually depressed like I wish I could just shut out the world because I know that nobody cares how I truly feel inside. i've gone mental! because of everyone around me...

So it's plain to see... I've gone mental! I got issues! mental issues!

Now you now how much pain I go through every day... so think before you say shit to people when u don't even really see...
