You've never seen a devastation
Another asking and your torn inside your mind is fake
And everything will stay the same

You've never seen another torment
And now it breaks away and asks inside if you were real
And everything still seemed so sane

And now you'll see us
Free end
And the love it looked like
Dressed in gold for you two

Now the movies see us in ways they've never seen

You've never seen another question
With all the answers that u ask inside and now you're fake
Collectively my soul you'd take

Another world that you can't handle
And now it crumples at the fact that inside you can't reach
And everything you squeeze so vain

And now you'll see us
Free end
And the love it looked like
Dressed in gold for you two

Now the movies see us in ways they've never seen

The movies could be something else
