

Alodex "Reflections Of Dee"

Visit "Reflections Of Dee" on MotoLyrics.com

So when life wouldn't bring what your saying to me Now you leave in the hopes and you've taken your life even though it's the same Was it something I said was it something you did Can you stay will you stay

So he can't break your heart when you see that he tries he's meant for nothing Now you leave in the hopes that a new day arises it's so unreal
Though you seize to knowledge the fact still remains he will never seem to change

So why is it so hard to say goodbye when it means nothing

So why must we sing

We love you and now you'll see that there is something
There is something the world
We love you and now you'll see that there is something
There is something my love

So your spreading your wings as you fly to the moon even though it's unsafe So you speak of the better while both of you hide what you truly feel Now the holes in the earth blindside what truly needs to be seen

So why is it so hard to say goodbye when it means
nothing

So why must we sing

We love you and now you'll see that there is something
There is something the world
We love you and now you'll see that there is something
There is something my love

Visit Alodex page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.
