We drug our lives in innocence
Holding a straight face We chased ourselves and traced our shadows until we couldn't recognize our own silhouettes we hang our sins from these rafters where a crowd once cheered us on just to survive, well we survived..
Without you

You're falling for your own mistakes thinking that you know us better then we know ourselves using our lives, to pass the time then tell us what we are here for?
you started this..
we'll finish it

"so did you hear all about how"
"I can't believe he said that"
"the word on the street's that" I've been sleeping with lies letting rumors spread quick than thighs on a girl with a reputation 'yah it's that bad we are up against a great team one drags his leg, one carries a disease you know "you know" what I mean? so how does it feel to know that your best friend has seen beneath your girlfriend's sheets? and I'm laying here a traitor in bed with the enemy well tell me honestly know what did you expect from me?
she lies she cheats she's what you stole from me so shut your mouth and keep it that way your own lack of voice never mattered anyways if only you could have seen what she wore crawling back to me you'd choke on the tongue you let slip past your teeth so good luck with my tragedy her first my mess my virginity
and thank you for cleaning up after me but you lost her the night you thought you had her you'll never be more than my shadow a sad sorry cheap excuse for a rebound just know we know and words always find their way back home

Don't knock what you don't know and will never understand.
