

Amos The Transparent "She Wasn't Lying"

Visit "She Wasn't Lying" on MotoLyrics.com

I can't wait 'cause when we meet it'll be
One hell of a wonderful day
I'm sorry if I won't be half what you hoped for
As I've grown tired of watching my back
One month a year to the day
She wasn't lying when she said I'd be drowning them away
My only hope is that he'd love her the same There's nothing so beautiful as when she says your name
When she says it...
A simple loneliness revealed by the sun
It wasn't something you said, It was something we shouldn't have done
And once again we hear that sweet morning song
And I'm it counterpart that's done you so wrong
At least I did something...
I'm sorry If won't I be half what you hoped for Visit Amos The Transparent page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.