It replays everyday and every time I yell the warning, "please turn back!" Sometimes, I can see you in the shadows; I can hear you in the echoes. I can feel you in the darkness. Sometimes, I can see you in the mirror. I can see you in my own eyes... and it scares me to think that somewhere... somehow... you're not breathing, and I miss you. And I will never be alone when I still see you in my dreams... a minute for each mile, please turn back... a lifetime for each second of broken glass.
Open, open, open up your eyes, and come back.
