We get torn apart.
I know it's hard, I can't imagine what you go through
When you lie in bed awake at night
Wondering "where is he? I hope to God he's alright."
I can't make any promises
But I can tell you this,
There won't be a second in a day when I'm not wishing that I was with you.

Every star in the sky reminds me of you
So I'll keep on looking until the sun.
And after last night I will be waiting patiently for you.

I don't know how I got us into this mess,
But I feel in my heart we can deal with the distance.
And baby I don't know if I'll be home in time
But it wasn't my choice to leave right now.
I know we've made our plans and everything was perfect
But this is what I live for.
You have to understand it doesn't change the fact that i would still die for you.

Every star in the sky reminds me of you
So I'll keep on looking until the sun.
And after last night I will be waiting patiently for you.

And I will never let go of my dreams about you
They remind me of what I'm coming back to.

Every star in the sky reminds me of you
So I'll keep on looking until the sun.
And after last night I will be waiting patiently for you
