for all you know hes a liar and he is sharing your heart of beads to another and he certainly keeps feeding up that fire and your raindrops are sure to make water as you scream we are tired like wire but the rust seems to break us apart and those hearts that youve eaten have pruned you ip into circles and i guess you were trying to crack the shell and these day im feeling like a pirate and also for the record i have stole a bit of beauty and it shines like a yellow gown over the water but i still cant seem to make myself feel happy ill just walk the plank and say i will be better off drowning to become water for another tree i could feed and grow those roots beside me and ill be laughing yes i will be laughing at me
