Daemon:

Hi dad! I'm back and would ask you a question
Why must we believe in something that we have never seen and why praying?
Who does not help us?

Father:

These are not questions to be made
At your age
You just have to study and don't worry
Cause we are your parents and we would never make you do senseless things!

Daemon:

Yes, but I want to understand what makes us stay in this world full of injustice and violence

Father:

You go in your room and no dinner for you tonight

Daemon:

That's all right but at least answer me!

Father:

Pray and have faith, child
And one day you will understand...

Daemon:

Damn, I exist and require answers as every other human being
I require some explanations about Christendom
I do not intend to accept it passively
Cause living would seem passively to me and my life cannot be like that I require some answers and if they don't want to give them to me
I will look for them by myself...
Futile, selfish assholes
