Walking down this road, hand in hand
Wouldn't it be so much better, I can't wait for the day
People running pass us by, but I don't care
As we stand here, and gaze into each other's eyes
I love the sound of your voice, speak to me
Tell me the words, I've waited so long to hear because

I love you more, than anyone, than anything
You mean so much more to me
I love you more, than anyone, than anything
Please would you hold my heart for me for life

I have lived this life, for years and years
All alone, just hoping one day we would meet
I don't have much to give, just my heart
But it's something special, it's everything I am
Don't think my words are random, it's destiny
There's no other, I can't live on without you because

I love you more, than anyone, than anything
You mean so much more to me
I love you more, than anyone, than anything
Please would you hold my heart for me for life

I love you more, than anyone, more than anything
You mean so much more to me
I love you more, than anyone, more than anything
Please would you hold my heart for me for life

And everything I've said is true
Look in my heart, there's the proof
Don't say to me, I've lied to you because

I love you more, I love you more, I love you more, I love you more, I love you more, (fadeout).
