Alec Bridges - The Bridge Is Broken

If we are the answers to the questions that we ask
Then tell me why I don't feel satisfied?
When everything we do feels like it's building up to something
Something may never come
I want to settle down
Now and forever
So tell me why I can't find my place
The sugar melts in my mouth just like everybody else
But when the feeling goes away I don't want to be myself
If everything we are is everything we do
And everything we think and feel
What will happen when we leave this world behind
And we can no longer do?
I want to settle down
Now and forever
So tell me why I can't find my place
The sugar melts in my mouth just like everybody else
But when the feeling goes away I don't want to be
myself
When the feeling goes away I don't want to be myself
I want to find my place
The sugar melts in my mouth just like everybody else
But when the feeling goes away I don't want to be
myself
When the feeling goes away I don't want to be myself
