I've been dragging out this feeling
That you've got nothing left for us to do.
I guess that's all that there is left of me and you.
You need to look past what you see.

There is magic in the moment.
Find space and time and watch what it will do.
But you say those words are
Something next to nothing new.
Well time's right here; Your future's near.

Oh, we have seen what life can be;
It's not fair to you and me.
But if you change your mind in time
You'll see there's something new.
I'm here for you. I'll be timeless just for you.

I understand your fears about us coming to an end,
But turn around and look right there
I've always been right here.

Oh baby you have seen what life can do.
It's cruel to me and you,
But if you stop staring at the air
And take your time to look right here,
See there's no time for fear, oh baby, don't you dare.

I've been dragging out the feeling
That you've been hiding all your feelings
While we're breaking down the meaning
Of why I'm still here for you.
It's not that hard to do.
