You've got all day to run me down but I've got no reason to back down walk away just walk away man just walk away it's a means to set you free what you wear and what you eat we cannot run we cannot hide from you insane obsession it's almost too hard to even try did you forget or did I fail to mention it's I who holds the thing you want most I who holds the thing you need we do not need this industry open your minds to possibilities and in a blink of the eye you turn on me cause for you it seems like eternity now you forgot enough is enough cause I decide what role I play and I decide what path to take today and I don't want you anymore no more you've had all day to run me down you've had your say now check this out cause what you call a right of humanity is just a lame excuse for hipocrisy no more
