

Another Tale "Frozen Eyes"

Visit "Frozen Eyes" on MotoLyrics.com

Take a look at this boiling world
Through my stony, ancient eyes
These thousands of years have been
Even for me a damned long time
Through a spider's web I have seen
Empires rise and kingdoms fall
Neverending bloodstained wars
For justice and for liberty's call

I had to see the desperation of million fights
And each man died in a sea of pain
And in my crumbly ears I can still hear
The crying of their children and
The sad sound of dead men's bells

Well you my friend you will never know
What really happened here
I'm standing still
Forever still
Forever harden with frozen eyes

Now you're standing here before me
Looking into my wide opened eyes
Don't you feel this ruin's past
Can't you hear the echo of glorious times
If I could speak you would shurly be afraid
Bout all the booming cruelty of this place
But I think you probably would not
Want to feel the true embrace

So come on and push the button
Make your own memento-pic

Visit Another Tale page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.