Through these remains, unsettled dust mirrors my torment
And inside these tombs, even the greatest have fallen too
The feeling that there's no escaping, the memories are overtaking
Inside the wounds, what's left behind of a life of abuse

Your sun has darkened, your good times through The wings of sorrow, have taken you

Left with the sorrows of lost souls
The ashes of this town remain broken down from the fallen
These lives meant nothing upon the lifeless

Darkness devours everything that I have called my own
From the life I lived to the depths of my soul, everything has turned to Stone
Embers fall from the burning pain I've come to know
The search for life in the graves of the unknown

Our lives contained, by the words that remain It's hard to believe, that there is hope for me

Left with the sorrows of lost souls
The ashes of this town remain broken down from the
fallen
These lives meant nothing upon the lifeless
