You don't deserve the weight of the world in the curl of your arm
It don't seem fair she holds you there
She brings you harm

You need a place to run wild
You need to think for a while
You need an ocean to swim through A friend to defend you and me

I don't need anything
I don't need anything

Let your hair grow
It hurts me to know that she cuts it off
And let those nails be
It kills me to see that you bite them off

You need a place to run wild
You need to think for a while
You need an island to cope with The loss of a love that you think that you that think you think that ya need

la da da da
la da da da
la da da da you think that you need you answer the phone

I know you're alone why won't you talk to me
It don't seem fair ya keep me out here until you have to leave

I need a place to run wild
I need to think for a while
I need a mountain to cover
The one's that we smother and pain
Don't don't don't call my name
Don't don't don't say my name

With your name on my mouth
A fire a fire a fire broke out
With your name on my mouth
A fire a fire a fire

So I don't recall the heat of it all
I know nothing at all
So i don't recall your name at all
I know nothing at all
I know nothing now
I know nothing now
