

Arrah & The Ferns

"Science Books"

Visit "Science Books" on MotoLyrics.com

I tried to read between the lines you wrote inside your black notebook
But your heart is like a worm and you won't let me in unless I'm dirt.
So all day I'll eat the mud you walk upon on your front lawn
The neighbors wonder what I'm doing, have I lost my mind consuming
All the shit that you had left as if you knew I would fertilize your past...
Don't try to warn me that you are an island
And there's no room for fighters
And a woman who can't learn how to please a man
Well I've read my fair share of science books
And baby, baby you're no man...
I have no choice but to dissect you with the laser beam that I built last year when the ice caps melted and oh, the world was captive by your fear!
Or should I kill you while you're sleeping?
I'll give you drugs and drag you to the street
The sun is high and bright, I'll grab that magnifying glass
And watch you die you die you die you die!
Don't try to warn me that you are an island
And there's no room for fighters
And a woman who can't learn how to please a man
Well I've read my fair share of arson books
And baby, baby you're so dead...

Visit Arrah & The Ferns page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.