

Arrogants "Words Apart"

Visit "Words Apart" on MotoLyrics.com

My heart's beating like before as you knock on that door
There's a hole in my head from the things that you've said, you've broke my beaten heart
There's a hole in my head from the things that you've said, you tore my world apart

But if we try to change how we are, then we just might survive

You don't call me anymore, and I don't see you no more
And it's driving me mad that you're making me sad, I know you shouldn't stay

But it's driving me mad that you're making me sad, and how I wish you'd stay

But if we try to change how we are, then we just might survive

There's a hole in my head from the things that you've said, I know you shouldn't stay
And it's driving me mad and it's driving me mad and how I wish you'd stay
And I don't want to cry, I don't want to cry, I know I'll cry tonight

Goodbye

Visit Arrogants page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.