Despite me feeling fine
This direction don't seem to be mine
With your political correctness
Your smile best infectious
You're probably just wasting my time
The worst of these addicts and liars
And the strong violence riots and fires
Is the shame of it all
When it comes to a halt
And you've lost all your white line desires

I've left it all behind
With the dusty mirrors and the striking red stains on your
Top move
For the ones left in the rain
But little do they know, all the shit they couldn't save you

Now Lucy has taken a break
And the diamonds turned out to be fake
We're still living the dream
So I tell you on screen
Yet we're too wise to see their mistake
The black ice, the girls and the case
To be solved, to be sold for the taste
A lack of aggression
The one your undressing
Might find you a fucking disgrace

I've left it all behind
With the dusty mirrors and the striking red stains on
your
But little do they know, all the shit they could have saved you from
