(Justin-As Days Drift Apart)

As they walk into the great unknown
Two friends that only time has shown
One thing bonds them to the end of time
Their love for life as they intertwine

As they lay and look into the stars
They dream for flight and wish they'd travel far
Out to the galaxies and pass the stars
Out to a world which they'd say is ours

Nasa don't have nothing on them...

(Grant and Justin)

Their dreams will help them sail the stars
One by one we'll travel with them to a place we only see in their dreams
They try to convince the world they are normal teens but they
Let the music speak for itself

(Grant Thomas)

Everyone want to know
What things make them grow,
Always bonding, never fighting
A friendship that's truly known

I know, It's hard to reach Pushing limits that are hard to teach
I know, that it takes time
But you'll always be a friend of mine.
